The equipment of the Museum Shop Lecatrija is a museum object by itself. The whole interior including the chandelier was designed by the famous Slovene architect Jože Plečnik in the first half of the 20th century in order to be a shop Lectarija. In 2000 the Slovene Ethnographic Museum has received the donation of Lectarija by the family Freyer. This was followed by its complete restoration and in 2004 put into function as a museum shop in the entrance hall of museum exhibition building.

Open: Tuesday – Sunday 10.00 – 18.00
